

Rob Imhoff Meets Buddy Guy

I was lucky enough to see the legend last night, Mr. Buddy Guy. I was in the front row and I brought your print of him, hoping he would sign it.

Robert Cray was the opening act and he was terrific. I have a Robert print too. I couldn't get Robert's attention, so maybe next time.

But I had my blue Sharpie, and Buddy came over at the end, and he signed it. And he handed me a guitar pick too.

So today I will go out, with the pick, and the print, and the certificate of authenticity (I love all of them, big and small) and the ticket stub and get it all matted and framed nice. And when we build our rock 'n roll bar downstairs in a couple of months, we will display it proudly. And I will cherish it forever.

*I'll talk to you soon, and I promise to be ordering some prints real soon.
Cheers,*

Rob Imhoff
